SWRK 4286 Mino Shkaabis with First Nations, Metis, Inuit Children, Youth and Families: Critical Analysis 3 cr

First Nations, Metis and Inuit peoples in Canada have been caring for their children within strong extended family and community support systems since time immemorial. Through patriarchy, Christianization, colonization and removal of children, Indigenous authority has been denigrated, dismantled, destroyed. There have been endless attempts to establish a system to regain self-governance, authority of Indigenous families, and Indigenous control over the well-being of children. Despite all those attempts, the outcome remains the overrepresentation of Indigenous children in the child welfare system, the gateway to the criminal justice system. Emphasizing diverse Indigenous ways of doing, being and helping in historical and contemporary Indigenous families and communities, with a focus on the special role of children and youth, this course will explore both traditional caring practices and values, and the re-establishment of First Nations, Metis and Inuit sovereignty and authority.
